Universal Peace Federation
Interfaith Peacebuilding Initiatives

The Universal Peace Federation (UPF) and its global network of Ambassadors for Peace bring universal, spiritual principles to the task of resolving conflict and reconciling the divided human family. International Leadership Conferences, symposia, and peace councils offer opportunities for high-level consultations. These are complemented by “track two” diplomacy and grass-roots programs that build support for a culture of peace.

UPF is an NGO in special consultative status with ECOSOC, the Economic and Social Council at the United Nations. The Secretariat is based in New York, and there are 12 regional offices and more than 150 chapters worldwide. Each chapter is entitled to nominate a representative to the UPF Global Peace Council. Individual members of UPF are called to be Ambassadors for Peace.

Areas of Focus
- Interfaith Peacebuilding
- Peace and security
- Marriage and family
- Culture of peace
- UN relations

Core Values
- We are one human family created by God.
- The highest achievements of men and women are rooted in spiritual and moral development.
- The family is the “school of love and peace.”
- Peace comes through dialogue and cooperation.
- Service is the foundation of reconciliation.

By practicing the ethics of living for the sake of others we can reconcile the divided human family.

Religious Youth Service
RYS provides an environment wherein youth can rise above doctrinal differences, unite in activities of service and learning that benefit communities around the world, and develop leadership abilities that enable all participants to help create a culture of peace.

Interfaith Assembly
UPF has hosted Interfaith summits at times of tension, including one of the first interfaith response to the 9/11/2001 attacks on the United States, followed by a conference for Muslims in Jakarta; and more recently the “Divine Winds of Change” seminar in Istanbul.

Consultations
In many parts of the world addressing security issues is a necessary step toward peace. UPF’s Office of Peace and Security brings decades of experience and expertise to peace initiatives in the Middle East, East Asia, South Asia, Africa, and the South Caucasus.

Interreligious Sports Programs
Young athletes from different religions and nationalities converge in the spirit of sportsmanship. Play Soccer Make Peace sponsors matches between youth from communities that have suffered tension and division.

World Interfaith Harmony Week
In support of the first World Interfaith Harmony Week in 2011, UPF worked with religious groups to hold celebrations in 22 nations. In 2012 UPF and religious NGOs helped plan an interfaith program at the UN General Assembly.

Publications
UPF encourages debate and discussion among the world’s faiths, and promoting understanding of the common ground in teachings, ethics and practice. Among our interfaith publications are the Dialogue & Alliance and the two-volume World Scripture.
ON the foundation of decades of interfaith efforts, UPF’s Middle East Peace Initiative began in 2003, in the heat of violence of the second Intifada. It offers interfaith pilgrimages, fact-finding tours, leadership consultations, and grass-roots encounters.

Visiting the historic and holy sites of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, participants gain a first-hand understanding of the history and spirituality of the Abrahamic faiths.

Briefings, dialogues, and opportunities to interact with the variety of people in the region give unique insights into current events as well as opportunities to serve as ambassadors of goodwill who build lasting relationships with people of diverse cultures.

Strategies for Reducing Interreligious Conflict:

- Establish an interreligious council among respected spiritual leaders representing all the traditions in the region.
- Convene the interreligious council during peace talks.
- Convene special council sessions with heads of religious bodies outside the region.
- Bring together young people from the region’s faith traditions to build bonds of trust and cooperation.
- Develop a curriculum that respectfully teaches the core values of the region’s diverse faith traditions.
- Encourage interfaith prayer and cooperation.
Interfaith Volunteerism

Responses to Terrorism
After attacks in Norway killed 77 people in July 2011, UPF-Norway organized a forum in partnership with the Central Mosque in Oslo that included political leaders and a youth panel.

Flood Relief
Buddhist, Christian, and Muslim students cleaned a Muslim school in Bangkok damaged by flood waters. This collaboration was facilitated by the Thailand National Interreligious Peace Council.

Rural Development
Young people of different faiths built a classroom and toilet facilities for students in an impoverished community near Lumbini, Nepal the birthplace of Buddha.

Reconcilation after Civil War
The disputed presidential elections of 2010 in Cote d'Ivoire sparked a civil war. Religious leaders and Ambassadors for Peace met with the Dialogue, Truth and Reconciliation Commission to plan a grassroots campaign to teach peace principles.

Community Cohesion
During forums on reconciliation and forgiveness in the UK, speakers talked about their experiences with people of other religions, the challenges they have faced in life, and how they drew upon the resources of their faith.

Post-tsunami Cleanup
After the 2011 earthquake and tsunami in Japan, UPF partnered with Christian Disaster Response to train volunteers doing clean up. This sparked a collaboration of NGOs and government offices involved in disaster relief.
World Interfaith Harmony Week

First week of February each year

- H.M. King Abdullah II of Jordan advocated for this annual celebration during the first week of February “based on love of God and love of one’s neighbor, or on love of the good and love of one’s neighbor, each according to their own religious traditions or convictions.”

- “Spread the message of interfaith harmony and goodwill,” urged UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon, “in the world’s churches, mosques, synagogues, temples and other places of worship.” This was his call to people of faith on the first World Interfaith Harmony Week, established by a UN General Assembly Resolution in October 2010.

The Universal Peace Federation organized observances in 22 nations in 2011, notably in an International Leadership Conference in Seoul, Korea. The opening plenary on February 7 began with interfaith prayers from the Muslim, Christian, Jewish, Confucian, Shinto, Buddhist, and Sikh traditions. Each of the religious representatives shared a reading from their scripture, lit a candle, and offered a prayer for peace, while colorful banners and decorations proclaimed the vision of the week of interfaith harmony.
Humanity everywhere is bound together not only by mutual interests but also by shared commandments, to love God and neighbor, to love the good.

Exploring Common Ground

In Indonesia, a Muslim emphasized harmonizing words and deeds, a Buddhist spoke about the importance of listening, and a Hindu advocated “heart, humility, humanity, and harmony.” A conference in Switzerland was conducted in both French and German by pairs of lecturers from the different regions of the nation. Forums in Munich and Stuttgart, Germany included speeches, readings, and prayers.

Addressing National Concerns

Some meetings were part of ongoing work for reconciliation. Muslim and Christian leaders in Cote d’Ivoire made plans to work together for reconciliation. Referring to the bitter post-election violence of two years earlier, a Buddhist leader in Kenya called for people to reach out to each other in forgiveness. In Bangkok, the World Interfaith Harmony Week event built momentum toward the inauguration of the Thailand Interfaith Peace Council in September.

Engaging in Joint Action

After lighting a “lamp of peace” and reading from various scriptures, students in India cleaned a park. In Moscow, Russia, youth made plans for further dialogue. Youth from four religious groups planned the observance in St. Lucia. Working together to end world hunger was the theme in Italy. A gathering in Israel honored government workers who promote interfaith activity. People in Moldova planned ways to cooperate in public projects.

Speaking, Listening, Praying

Speakers from various religions took part in forums in Barbados; Canada; Kazakhstan; and Solomon Islands. Prayers and readings by representatives of different faiths were the highlights of gatherings in Japan; Malaysia; Russia; Slovakia; and the US.

Some people say that advances in science have proven that many religious beliefs are mere superstition and irrelevant to the modern world. But the role of religion will always be relevant as long as the spiritual aspect of human beings remains a reality and a world of peace has not been established.

The struggles of modern ideologies, cultures, and races can be overcome through interreligious understanding and spiritual harmony.

Religious scholars should go beyond complex theories and promoting the superiority of their own religions and give people the wisdom to love humanity and build a world of peace. Religions must pool their wisdom and combine their energies and work diligently to build the ideal world.

- Rev. Sun Myung Moon

Spiritual Insight

RELIGION and spirituality impact the worldviews, values, and practices of humanity worldwide. Human beings are not only political, economic, and social but also spiritual beings with spiritual needs and a capacity for spiritual wisdom and insight.

UPF Founder Rev. Dr. Sun Myung Moon advocates that the United Nations, for its own survival and effectiveness, build an interreligious council or similar structure within its system, because the current structure, dominated by political self-interest, represents an incomplete expression of humanity’s potential.

Those who represent the highest expressions of humanity’s vision of peace can help ground peacemaking in moral and spiritual principles based on the wisdom of Jesus, Mohammed, Moses, Buddha, Confucius, and other sages.

Top: Rev. Sun Myung Moon speaking at the UN in 2000; Middle: interreligious peace councils in Thailand (L.) and Ethiopia (R.); Bottom: informal discussions at UPF conferences in Korea and New York
“We need a United Nations that can effectively direct the abundant financial, academic, spiritual, and technical resources. This task is not the work of one single religion but the combined work of all religions.”

– Kenneth D. Kaunda, President of Zambia (1964-91)

How Councils Can Help

In addition to military, economic, and ecological factors, human wellbeing and security involves people’s ways of thinking, which are deeply affected by religion. Interreligious councils have the potential to

• Provide fresh and unique perspectives on problems and potential solutions
• Prevent religious differences from being exploited to stir up conflict
• Promote intercultural dialogue, understanding, and cooperation
• Model the capacity to rise above differences and work together for the common good

A Decade of Progress

2004 Promotion of Interreligious Dialogue: GA Resolution 59/23 (sponsored by the Permanent Mission of the Republic of the Philippines to the UN)
2005 Inauguration of the Universal Peace Federation modeling the activities of a proposed council
2006 Tripartite Forum on Interfaith Cooperation for Peace (partnership among Member States, UN bodies, and NGOs)
2007 Establishment of a Focal Unit in the Department of Economic and Social Affairs at the United Nations (GA Resolution 61/221)
2010 Proposal for a UN Decade of Interreligious and Intercultural Dialogue, Understanding and Cooperation for Peace (resolution not yet approved)
2011 World Interfaith Harmony Week established (the first week of February)
Interfaith Harmony Readings

BAHA’I:
Be a lamp unto those who walk in darkness, and a home to the stranger. Be eyes to the blind, and a guiding light unto the feet of the erring. Be a breath of life to the body of humankind, a dew upon the soil of the human heart, and a fruit upon the tree of humility.

BUDDHISM:
May those frightened cease to be afraid, and may those bound be free. May the powerless find power, and may people think of befriending one another.

CHRISTIANITY:
Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be known as the Children of God. Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you.

CONFUCIANISM:
When the heart is set right, then the personal life is cultivated. When the personal life is cultivated, then the family life is regulated. When the family life is regulated, then the national life is orderly. And when the national life is orderly, then there is peace in the world.

HINDUISM:
May there be peace on earth. May thy Vedic Law propagate peace all through the world. May all things be a source of peace to us. And may thy peace itself, bestow peace on all, and may that peace come to me also.

ISLAM:
If the enemy incline towards peace, do thou also incline towards peace, and trust God, for the Lord is the one that heareth and knoweth all things. And the servants of God, Most Gracious are those who walk on the Earth in humility, and when we address them, we say “PEACE.”

SIKHISM:
God adjudges us according to our deeds, not the coat that we wear: that truth is above everything, but higher still is truthful living. Know that we attaineth God when we loveth, and only that victory endures in consequences of which no one is defeated.

SHINTOISM:
Although the people living across the ocean surrounding us are all our brothers and sisters, why are there constant troubles in this world? Why do winds and waves rise in the ocean surrounding us? I only earnestly wish that the wind will soon puff away all the clouds which are hanging over the tops of the mountains.

UNIFICATIONISM:
A life of vertical “noon-time” alignment casts no shadow. I pray that we can wipe away the tears of people in misery and poverty, and lead an illuminated life of eternal true love that dissipates all darkness.

Prayers or selections from sacred scriptures are read by representatives of different faiths and traditions, and each pours water from a container into a common bowl or lights a candle for peace. (L.) Ceremonies in Italy and the Marshall Islands.
